Apple iPhone users have been able to connect their phones to car navigation systems for years, so one may wonder what is so different about Apple CarPlay. For starters, instead of connecting to a third-party configuration CarPlay launches a display which mimics the features of the iOS user interface that we've become accustomed to. CarPlay condenses your phone's apps into those, which are compatible with the system and enable handsfree handling, which is the primary selling point of the CarPlay application. Handsfree operation enhances safety and CarPlay goes as far as disabling your iPhone screen while it is connected to the system. CarPlay can be controlled using the navigation controls, touchscreen or ideally Siri, which acts as a co-pilot which can tell you what's around you, where to go, make your calls for you, select songs and audio files to play, navigate options and apps, and send messages while you are on the go so you never have to take your eyes off the road or your hands off the wheel.

Lemon-Aid guides steer the confused and anxious buyer through the economic meltdown unlike any other car-and-truck books on the market. U.S. automakers are suddenly awash in profits, and South Koreans and Europeans have gained market shares, while Honda, Nissan, and Toyota have curtailed production following the 2011 tsunami in Japan. Shortages of Japanese new cars and supplier disruptions will likely push used car prices through the roof well into 2012, so what should a savvy buyer do? The all-new Lemon-Aid Used Cars and Trucks 2012-2013 has the answers, including: More vehicles rated, with some redesigned models that don't perform as well as previous iterations downrated. More roof crash-worthiness ratings along with an expanded cross-border shopping guide. A revised summary of safety- and performance-related defects that are likely to affect rated models. More helpful websites listed in the appendix as well as an updated list of the best and worst "beaters" on the market. More "secret" warranties taken from automaker internal service bulletins and memos than ever.

Canada's automotive "Dr. Phil" says there's never been a better time to buy a new car or truck, thanks to a stronger Canadian dollar, a worldwide recession driving prices downward, and a more competitive Japanese auto industry that's still reeling from a series of natural disasters.
